

qoncept's vision is to develop outstanding software which supports digital transformation in the manufacturing industry. At qoncept we see every software project as an innovation towards process optimization. We believe that real innovation only happens when combining the spices of different engineering disciplines.

This is why we spice up with experts in metallurgy, software architecture, software development, UI & UX and data science.

Read more: <https://qoncept.at/>

Join our team to be infected by our passion to engineer innovation as a

Software Solution Developer – Full Stack (m/f/x)

The spices of your new challenge:

- Developing revolutionary software solutions for the manufacturing industry
- Working with industrial clients to develop high-demanding applications which require in-depth knowledge
- Celebrating success with high-class teammates

You are ready to come onboard because:

- You are a professional in software development, active in this field for > 3y
- You are passionate to work either on a database level, as a backend developer or you are a funky frontend star
- You enjoy structured software development, resulting in clean code

Being a qoncept member brings the following benefits:

- Highly flexible working culture: working place and home office can be discussed
- Quick decision making processes – it is the success that counts, not who had an idea
- Succeeding with highly qualified product owners that bring >10y domain know-how
- Comprehensive employee benefits package with company sport and leisure events
- Modern offices, latest infrastructure and hardware
- Individual education and training program
- Annual bonus

Interested? Send your application to jobs@qoncept.at